Berlin Defense Core Cracking

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, April 27 (AP) — Berlin's inner defense core appeared cracking today under a massive Soviet squeeze operation. Marshal Zhukov's forces in the northwest sector surged forward three miles during the night, breaking into the workers' district of Moabit and the fringes of the famed Tiergarten in the center of the flaming capital.

The advance was complemented by gains in the south by Marshal Konev's First Ukrainian Army, which was believed to have completed the occupation of the airport at Tempelhof.

White Russian troops captured Spandau on the western outskirts of the flaming capital, Potsdam five miles outside the city, and Rathenow 33 miles to the west, Marshal Stalin announced.

Potsdam has been headquarters of the German army since the days of Frederick the Great. Before the first World War it was the home of the German royal family.

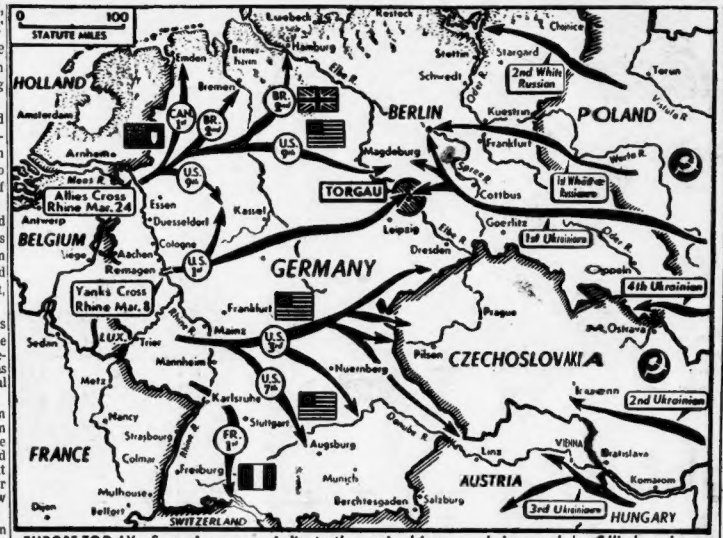
At Moabit the Russians were in the area of the biggest prison in Berlin. The district adjoins the Tiergarten on the northwest and German reports indicated that battles already were swirling over that great park. Germans now hold only a third of Berlin.

(The German army has been compressed into an area about twice the size of New York's 840-acre Central Park, Mutual Broadcasting System reported from Stockholm.)

Russian flame-throwers went to work prying out German units which had established mad inegun nests in the ruins. One Soviet account said the fighting now was raging high above the street in the corridors, on the staircases, in attics and on the roofs of the larger buildings. Fighting also continued underground in cellars and the tunnels and stations of Berlin's subway system.

As the vengeful Russian troops advanced in the encircled capital against fiercely resisting soldiers and civilians, even women and children were reported in arms.

While some civilians scampered through the Russian lines for safety, Soviet dispatches said others fought side by side with their soldiers. Some units of the trapped German garrison of possibly 500,000, however, fought with the guns of SS troopers at their backs.



EUROPE TODAY—Sweeping arrows indicate the main drives now being made by Allied armies as they smash at the crumbling remains of the German Reich. From east, west and south powerful blows are rained on the ever shrinking territory still controlled by the Nazis.

Nazi Lapland Army Driven From Finland

HELSINKI, April 27 (AP)—Remnants of Germany's Lapland army have been practically driven out of Finland where they had been hanging on in the long neck of territory between Norway and Sweden since last fall, it was announced here.

Agreement on Parley Chairman Seen Near

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27—Settlement of the Big Four fight over chairmanship of the United Nations conference appeared to be close at hand today with China playing a leading role in effecting a compromise.

Sec. Stettinius sent word from a closed meeting of the conference steering committee he would hold a news conference later in the day.

It was learned China played an important role in the steering committee talks, arguing for a compromise of the deadlock so the conference could settle down to its main job of creating machinery designed to preserve the future peace.

Stettinius met with Eden, Molotov and Soong in the Veterans' War Memorial, conference headquarters, where the steering committee was scheduled to meet later.

It was in this building Molotov blocked an Eden motion to make Stettinius chairman of the conference. Eden then proposed the job of presiding over the big sessions be rotated among the Big Four—which Molotov approved—and that Stettinius be made chairman of the key steering and executive committees—which Molotov disapproved.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27 AP)—The United Nations Conference settled its row over a chairman today and one delegate said the job would rotate among the four big sponsoring nations as Russia proposed but that Secretary Stettinius would receive the chairmanship of the all-important steering committee.

Molotov wanted all three assignments to rotate. However, both British and American leaders were reported firmly opposed to this idea as unworkable. Today's session was awaited with extraordinary interest by conference delegates for a possible clue on the amount of give-and-take to be expected of Molotov.

The delegations meanwhile were making rapid strides toward solving the really important issues of this historic conference. There were many bright signs that the Russian bid for three votes in the general assembly of the peace organizaton would be settled as quickly as the settlement of the Polish question, not yet announced.

Spokesmen from the smaller nations plainly indicated there also may be quick ratification of the ticklish proposal by the "Big Five" for individual vetoes on the use of force to prevent aggression. This concession to the power nations was determined upon at Yalta and is proposed for the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China.

Many great leaders in the conference are working, too, for a compromise on the controversy over international trusteeships for seized enemy territory. Some authorities expect the final agreement will include some international trusteeships as well as individual trusteeships, like the old League of Nations mandates.

In either event, the United States will retain military control of all enemy islands seized by American forces in the Pacific.

The prospects for settling all these disputes amicably were so hopeful that one Russian attache predicted Molotov would start for home within 10 or 12 days.

Jap Suicide Bomb Revealed

By GEORGE M'WILLIAMS

GUAM, April 27 (INS)—Adm. Nimitz disclosed today the Japs have been using "suicide rockets," guided by human pilots, against American forces in the Okinawa campaign.

The bombs are similar to a small, one-place airplane, carry only one man, and are usually launched from the underside of a bomber plane.

The human-manned projectiles measure 19 feet in length, have a wingspan of 16 feet, a large twin-fin tail assembly, and are constructed of light metals and plywood. They are built like torpedoes and carry a heavy warhead of explosives set off when the fanatic pilots crash into the target.

The rockets are capable of high speed which reduces maneuverability to a low point. Nimitz said the Japs have been using the projectiles in limited numbers.

Naval men have dubbed the suicide craft "baka bombs" from a Japanese word meaning fool.

Yanks Capture 4 More Generals

ON THE ELBE, Germany, April 27 (AP)—The American Ninth Army captured four more generals today. Two commanded corps, two were divisional directors.

Also in the bag was an entire German regiment whose commander asserted he gave up because he understood the United States and Germany had joined to fight Russia. He said it with a straight face, too.

3d Invades Austria, Seals Alps Redoubt

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, April 27 (AP)—Gen. Patton's Third Army invaded Austria and established radio contact with the Russians west of Vienna today in a swift advance nearly sealing off Czechoslovakia and shutting the front door to Hitler's alpine redoubt.

The French closed to within 31 miles of Munich and 78 of the Brenner Pass, toward which the rampaging American Fifth Army in Italy was striking from the south. Seventh Army approached Munich from 35 miles northwest of that cradle of the Nazi party.

At last reports, many hours behind the action, the Third Army and the Russians west of Vienna were 85 miles apart, but AP Correspondent Edward D. Ball messaged:

"The two armies are in radio contact and a physical junction appears likely soon."

The ordinary range of Russian radio tanks is 25 miles.

Ball's dispatch was heavily censored, but he was allowed to say "the impending linkup would mean all southern Germany, with its so-called national redoubt, and the German forces in Italy would be trapped.

Civilians who said they represented city officials, Catholic clergy and industrialists of Augsburg came out of the city 32 miles northwest of Munich under a flag of truce, offering to surrender it to the Seventh Army, six miles away.

They asserted they would take care of any fanatics who stood in the way. The Fourth Division commander ordered them back to the city to fly the white flag, destroy all mines and road blocks and release all prisoners.

The French First Army dashed to positions 31 miles west-southwest of Munich by reaching Landsberg, 20 miles south of Augsburg. The American Seventh closed to within 35 miles of Munich from the northwest. Lt. Gen. Patch's Army made an 18-mile breakthrough and moved within six miles of Augsburg. His divisions captured Memmingen, 34 miles from the Austrian frontier, and liberated 4000 Allied prisoners.

British tanks lunged north of captured Bremen in a drive on Hamburg and a maneuver to seal off Denmark and Schleswig-Holstein. The Canadians broke the enemy's Kustin canal line and advanced toward Wilhelmshaven and Emden.

Stalin Addresses Allied Armies

MOSCOW, April 27 (INS)—In his special announcement of the union of Allied armies today, Premier Stalin declared:

"In the name of the Soviet government, I address you, commanders and men of the Red army and th armies of our Allies.

"The victorious armies of the Allied powers, waging a war of liberation in Europe, have routed the German troops and linked up on the territory of Germany.

"Our task and our duty is to complete the destruction of the enemy and force him to lay down his arms and surrender unconditionally. The Red army will fulfill to the end this task and this duty to our people nad all freedom-loving people.

"I greet the valorous troops of our Allies who now are standing on the territory of Germany shoulder to shoulder with Soviet troops and who are full of determination to carry out their duty."

TITO TAKES RAIL CENTER

LONDON, April 27 (INS)—Marshal Tito's Yugoslav army has captured the important rail border town of Virovitica, the Yugoslav radio said today, the town is 145 miles north of Sarajevo.

Yanks, Russians Join

JUNCTION—American forces have joined with troops of the Soviet Army at Torgau, some 75 miles south of Berlin, President Truman announced today. Black area indicates territory still held by the Germans.

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) — The juncture of Anglo-American and Soviet armies in the heart of Hitler's Reich, cutting Germany in two, was triumphantly announced at the White House today. President Truman gave out the news in a statement released simultaneously in Washington, Moscow and London at a pre-arranged hour, 12 noon, Eastern War Time. The juncture of the armed might of the Big Three occurred at 2 p. m., Eastern War Time, yesterday at Torgau, a town on the Elbe river 75 miles south of Berlin. Patrols had made contact a day earlier. The American unit involved in the meeting was the 69th Division, under command of Maj. Gen. Emil F. Reinhardt. The President's statement:

"The Anglo-American armies under the command of Gen. Eisenhower have met the Soviet forces where they intended to meet—in the heart of Nazi Germany. The enemy has been cut in two.

"This is not the hour of final victory in Europe, but the hour draws near, the hour for which all the American people, all the British people, and all the Soviet people have toiled aind prayed so long.

"The union of our arms in the heart of Germany has a meaning for the world which the world will not miss. It means, first, that the last faint, desperate hope of Hitler and his gangster government has been extinguished. The common front and the common cause of the powers allied in this war against tyranny and inhumanity have been demonstrated in fact as they have long been demonstrated in determination. Nothing can divide or weaken the common purpose of our veteran armies to pursue their victorious purpose to its final Allied triumph in Germany.

"Second, the junction of our forces at this moment signalizes to ourselves and to the world that the collaboration of our nations in the cause of peace and freedom is an effective collaboration which can surmount the greatest difficulties of the most extensive campaign in military history and succeed. Nations which can plan and fight together shoulder to shoulder in the face of such obstacles of distance and of language and of communications as we have overcome can live together and can work together in the common labor of the organization of the world for peace.

"Finally, this great triumph of Allied arms and Allied strategy is such a tribute to the courage and determination of Franklin Roosevelt as no words could ever speak, and that could be accomplished only by the persistence and the courage of the fighting soldiers and sailors of the Allied nations.

"But until our enemies are finally subdued in Europe and in the Pacific, there must be no relaxation of effort on the home front in support of our heroic soldiers and sailors as we all know there will be no pause on the battle fronts."

The White House, the Kremlin and Whitehall jointly announced the historic junction of the First Army and the Russian First Ukrainian Army group, led by the tall, shaven-headed Konev who helped turn impending disaster into victory at the gates of Moscow in the snow of December, 1941—just before Pearl Harbor.

The end was not yet, but it was inevitably brought closer. The Germans still had 250 divisions,

1st Doughboy, Red Meeting

By LEE CARSON

WITH 69TH INFANTRY OF U. S. FIRST ARMY, April 25—(delayed) (INS)—Russian soldiers and doughboys of the United States First Army met at 3 p. m. today in a suburb of Torgau.

The juncture of American soldiers and troops of the First Ukrainian Army was officially sealed one hour later when a United States doughboy and his Soviet counterpart met on the girder of a blown-up bridge over the Elbe.

Second Lt. William D. Robertson of Los Angeles, 25-year-old "dough" of the 69th Infantry, and Pvt. Nikolai Ivanovitch Andreev of the 173d Regiment of the 58th Guards Division of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian Army were the first to meet.

They pounded each other on the knee, holding fast to the twisted girder with their other hand.

They shouted, smiled at each other, took their own particular places in history and the long-awaited link-up of Allied armies from the west and Russian armies from the east had become an official accomplished fact.

The 69th Division arrived in this sector only a short while ago. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. Emil Reinhardt of Detroit, Mich.

Lt. Richardson and three enlisted men in a dust-covered jeep that had been mounted with a machine gun sideslipped into Torgau and the Russians almost by accident.

A 21-man platoon from Houston, Tex., traveling in six jeeps and led by Lt. Albert Kotzebue, was the first American unit in any force to meet advance Russian units.

Kotzebue's platoon had been sent out on patrol late yesterday with instructions not to proceed farther than a five-mile radius east of the Mulde river.

The platoon stayed out overnight and first contacted the Russians at 3 p. m. this afternoon, spending the night at a Russian bivouac in the Torgau suburb of Grova.

First word of the contact was flashed by radio to the 69th Division command post. It said:

"Mission accomplished. Contact made. Arrangements being made for a formal meeting."

Tonight Lt. Robertson, Cpl. James J. McDonnell of Peabody, Mass.; PFC Frank P. Huff of Washington, Va., and PFC Paul Staub of New York city brought Soviet Battalion Com. Maj. Amphim Lariunov, Capt. Vassiki Nedov, Lt. Alexander Sylvachko and Pvt. Andreev back to the division command post to meet Gen. Reinhardt.

The meeting of American and Russian doughboys was marked by an all-around swapping of rank and insignia, toasts in German schnapps out of Russian canteens, shouted noisily in two languages, neither of which was understood the other side.

Later, Americans and Russians slapped each other on the back, gave each other bear hugs, and sat in the warm sunshine drinking campagne from beer mugs and toasting the great occasion.

Not in all this long war have there been scenes such as those. It was enough that they were allies. Parts of the city was deserted and ghostly. In other sections Russian and American troops whooped, sang and formed fast friendships. The whole day was almost too fantastic to believe until dusk settled over the Elbe—and there was nothing more to be wrung from hours crammed with emotional outbursts.

"These Russians are something out of this world," said Capt. Ralph Phillips of Union, S. C.

"They hug half to death, kill you with toasts in codka and give you everything, including the shirts off their backs."

Lt. Robertson told about it this way:

"We just said, "Hi-yah, here's to you!' and shook hands.

"Not one of us had any idea what in hell they were saying and they didn't know what we were saying.

The First Infantry platoon was supposed to halt its patrols at the five-mile mark, but overstepped

Gen. Bradley's Order of the Day Reveals Feats of Allied Nations

By WES GALLAGHER

ON THE ELBE, Germany, April 27 (AP)—In an order of the day Gen. Bradley of the 12th Army Group announced American troops contacted Konev's army at 4:40 p. m. April 25.

The next day, April 26, commanding generals of both sides met to discuss the repatriation of prisoners and other problems.

In a review of American and Russian achievements in reaching the Elbe, Bradley's order of the day to U. S. troops said:

"America, who armed you, had great faith in you. You have justified that faith, and you will in the battles that follow."

Bradley said: "These armies have come to you from the ruins of Stalingrad and Sevastopol—across the scorched cities of the Ukraine. In two years they have smashed 1400 miles through German armies to drive the enemy from Russia and pursue him to the Elbe."

Truman Knew

WASHINGTON, April 27 (INS)—When the American and Russian patrols first made their junction at the Elbe river on Wednesday President Truman was closeted with War Sec. Stimson and other military leaders at the Pentagon.

The White House announced today the patrols first met at 2:40 p. m. EWT Wednesday. At that time Mr. Truman had been at the War Department for more than 50 minutes.

Peabody Boy First to Hail Reds

Cpl. James J. McDonnell of Palmer ave., Peabody, was in the first group contacting the Russians in Germany. He is 22 years old and a former golf champion. When the Boston American informed his mother on the basis of Lee Carson's story from the scene, Mrs. John J. McDonnell said:

"He was always such a scrappy kid and now he's finally got his wish. All along he wanted to be in the front ranks and that's certainly where he is now, yet he's just a baby. From his letters we guessed he was with the First Army with Gen. Hodges—all he writes about is being part of the Fighting 69th.

"He had a grand time in England last December when he ran into his older brother, Lt. John F. McDonnell, who has been in the service nearly four years. They had quite a reunion."

Cpl. McDonnell was golf caddy champion of Peabody in 1936 and that same year was runner-up in the State caddy championship.

He attended St. John's School in Peabody and St. Mary's in Lynn. Before the war he ran a plant for the Essex Sand & Gravel Co. He has two sisters, Mrs. Albert Chenery of Peabody and Mrs. Frank Cunniff of Brookline. His father, John J. McDonnell, is a war worker at the Bethlehem plant in East Boston.

Deer Isle Fugitive, Girl Nabbed in Jersey Hotel

Trailed by police to an Asbury Park, N. J., hotel room where he was found with an attractive, ashen-blonde former Boston girl recently discharged from the WAC, Joseph W. Costa, 45, of New Bedford, a Deer Island escapee, and his girl companion were under arrest there today.

Asbury Park Det. Sgt. Edward Burke notified Boston authorities Costa was being held for police of 17 states on bad check, confidence game and embezzlement charges, in addition to the Massachusetts fugitive from justice charge.

Joseph W. Costa

The girl, identified by police as Virginia Fuller, 20, was held on an open charge of investigation. She told police she was from Houston, Tex., but later admitted she came originally from Boston, Sgt. Burke reported.

According to Asbury Park police, the girl said she received an honorable discharge from the Women's Army Corps in Houston April 1 and met Costa on a bus "somewhere between Texas and Pittsburgh."

Costa escaped from the Deer Island house of correction here on Jan. 29. On Feb. 9, the Plymouth County grand jury returned a secret indictment against him, the nature of which was not revealed.

Asbury Park officials said Costa would be held today pending action by police of the various states in which he is wanted.

Costa, when arrested, had 65 cashable checks in his possession drawn on banks of various cities in Texas, Missouri, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, police said.

The New Bedford man's criminal record dates from 1917, and ranges from bad check charges through armed robbery and kidnaping. He has served sentences in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Ohio and California. He was scheduled to face more than 10 other charges upon his release from Deer Island.

Thousands Throng Faneuil Hall Market in Vain Hunt for Meat

The Faneuil Hall market district today was stormed by thousands of shoppers in a futile search for meat as supplies hit a new low in retail shops, forecasting another meatless week-end for Greater Boston.

Only four stores in the district had anything but frankfurts, sausage and similar meats, and their supplies were limited to a few pot roasts. Poultry dealers all displayed signs announcing nothing for sale.

All meat stores remained open, apparently hoping that the throngs would turn to frankfurts and similar types of meat when unable to obtain beef or poultry.

Dealers were hopeful of better supplies in the next week or 10 days as a result of the new OPA program to increase prices to packers and improve distribution. Poultry men expected shipment of broilers and fryers to the market within the next few weeks would lessen that shortage.

Bus Strike Ties Hub Traffic to Cape, R. I.

Hundreds of war workers in southern Massachusetts and Rhode Island were forced to walk to work today when New England Transportation Co. bus service between Boston, Cape Cod and Rhode Island was halted by a strike of 185 drivers and ticket sellers.

The company reported that 90 buses were idle and 400 miles of lines tied up, with more than 10,000 persons deprived of service by the walkout.

Calling of the strike at 4 a. m. by James E. Caulfield of Providence, president of Local 988, Amalgamated Ass'n of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators, resulted in the calling of a 10 a. m. conference at the State House in Providence by William L. Connolly, State labor director.

Union officials, who had rejected a suggestion of the company that the case be referred to the War Labor Board for arbitration, agreed to attend the conference, at which representatives of the Army were expected to be on hand as observers.

The strike, according to Caulfield, tied up all buses on company lines from Providence to Boston, Worcester, Fitchburg, Hartford, Fall River and Cape Cod. Only buses permitted to operate, he said, would be those used for military personnel.

Police said Bourgoin was lying on the floor with a pistol clutched in his right hand.

His wife, Signe, was shopping at the time of the shooting.

Goering Flees, Carries Loot, Moscow Says

LONDON, April 27 (AP)—A German announcement that Reichsmarshal Goering had resigned as chief of the now-impotent German Air Force because of an acute heart condition was followed today by a Moscow report that he had fled by air to an unknown destination.

The Moscow report asserted the portly Reichsmarshal—who once boasted that the Allies could never bomb Berlin—was said to have taken with him his wife and loot valued at $20,000,000.

The Russians said the Germans doubtless had proclaimed Goering's resignation to hide the fact of his sudden disappearance.

Long ranked as No. 2 Nazi and heir to Hitler's power, Goering asked Hitler to be "relieved of his command as chief of the Luftwaffe at a time when his strength is needed" and the Fuehrer has granted his request, a German broadcast said.

The radio announcement said he had been replaced by Gen. Ritter von Grein, who was promoted to field marshal. Von Grein once was reported head of the German air force in Russia.

A German general, newly captured by the U. S. Ninth Army, said Goering probably already had been executed.

This general, unidentified in a field dispatch but termed "internationally known and one of the best-informed members of the German general staff," predicted the war would end within a few days and said Hitler still was in Berlin and probably would die there.

The general, who came across the Elbe river under a flag of truce and surrendered to American infantrymen, said he had just come from the German capital.

5th Near Milan, Brenner Pass

By MAURICE MORAN

ROME, April 27 (AP)—Troops of the U. S. Fifth Army smashed to within 35 miles or less of Milan today as the entire Italian front surged toward a seal-off of the Nazis' alpine redoubt on the south.

Swiss dispatches cited mounting indications the Nazis were abandoning Mussolini's Blackshirt troops to their fate and withdrawing rapidly toward the German border.

At captured Verona, where the Americans broke through the German Adige river line, the Allies were about 100 miles from the Brenner Pass to Austria, now virtually blocked off for the Germans remaining in northern Italy.

The Milan radio also announced that Mussolini, attempting to flee into Switzerland, was captured by Partisans near Pallanza on Lake Maggiore, 12 miles from the Swiss border.

Quincy Bandits Tie Up 5 In $3000 Cafe Stickup

Three gunmen obtained between $3000 and $4000 today in a daring daylight holdup in a Sea st., Quincy, dine and dance place only a few steps away from Quincy police headquarters. The proprietor and a brewery truck driver were slugged with gun butts and tied up with three others in the place. Police believe two accomplices of the three assailants waited outside in an auto in which the bandits fled toward Boston.

The proprietor, Albert Mossesso, 57, Sea st., and the driver, John Rooney, 29, Columbus ave., Roxbury, were treated for scalp wounds at Quincy City Hospital.

The two injured men and Mossesso's wife, Rhoda; Rooney's helper, Thomas Furdon, 29, of Walnut st., Newton Highlands, and an elderly customer, all were bound with adhesive tape and light extension cords by the bandits after they obtained the cash.

Police obtained fingerprints from glasses used by the bandits for drinks during the robbery.

The daring robbery was well-executed with one of the trio coming into the establishment to look the place over carefully a short time before the actual holdup.

Mossesso's wife said he then made a telephone call and left, only to return a few minutes later behind two other men who advanced into the establishment with drawn guns.

One of the trio ordered her from behind the bar and, when she failed to move fast enough, seized her and pushed her roughly downstairs to the basement. Rooney, his helper and another person in the cafe also were herded into the basement.

While they were held at bay, two of the bandits entered a small office where Mossesso was working, slugged him with a gun butt and forced him downstairs and ordered him to open the safe.

Nervous and shaken by the blow from the gun butt, Mossesso was slow at opening the safe and one of the gunmen fired a shot over his head into the wall.

"That'll show you we mean business," he snarled. "Get it open."

The bandits then took more than $3000, which Mossesso had drawn earlier in the day from the bank in order to cash checks for war workers patronizing the place.

After the bandits fled leaving the five bound in the basement, Mrs. Mossesso managed to work herself loose and then liberated the other four.

Police believed the weapons used by the gunmen may have been part of the loot stolen last week in a break in the Quincy State Armory, the fourth of such thefts in the past month. A rifle, a semi-automatic shotgun, four .32 calibre revolvers and a quantity of ammunition were taken.

She told Judge Mahoney they had never lived together. She said they were married Sept. 21, 1940, at Buckland, after eloping from their Burlington, Vt., homes.

Dodge, now a Seabee, was engaged to a girl employed in his father's plant, Mrs. Dodge testified.

"His folks and her folks wanted him to marry her for the sake of the business, but he didn't want to," she testified.

She charged Dodge with fraud and duress in her uncontested petition for annulment which Judge Mahoney took under advisement.

Thousands Delayed As El Power Fails

Thousands of workers were delayed during the morning rush hour today when the entire Boston Elevated subway and surface car system was crippled by a power failure lasting 20 minutes.

Subway, surface and elevated trains and cars came to a complete standstill at 7:32 and car and tunnel lights, signals and even turnstiles and escalators in downtown stations were put out of operation as the morning rush was approaching its peak.

Elevated officials said the tieup was caused by a power defect in the Dewey sq. substation transformer on the intermediate level of the South Station stop. The defect was believed to have been caused by a short circuit.

Lights on cars and in tunnels throughout the system blinked out, but came on in less than a minute by an automatic switchover to an Edison Co. transformer.

The power from this transformer, however, was insufficient to keep cars in operation and they remained idle for a few minutes until a switchover was made to the main transformer in South Boston.

Traffic on the main rapid transit line from Forest Hills to Everett was tied up throughout the 20-minute interval, but service resumed on other lines from three to five minutes after the power failure.

Trains in operation, however, moved at a snail's pace for some time, since the power shutoff had set the entire signal system at "red" or danger. Elevated officials explained each signal had to be set individually before it could be restored to normal working order.

Elevated officials reported power was restored fully at 7:40 a. m. and that by 8:05 a. m. all trains and cars were running but at a slow rate. Normal operation was restored later in the morning.

Particularly large crowds collected at the Maverick tunnel station in East Boston, at Harvard, Sullivan and Lechmere sqs., which are feeder points for bus lines, and at Andrew sq. and Fields Corner, main stations on the Dorchester end of the Cambridge-Dorchester rapid transit line.

Barnes Probes Five Deaths in Hospital

Immediate action was taken by the office of Atty. Gen. Barnes today to conduct a thorough investigation of charges of Dr. Vlado A. Getting, State health commissioner, that five patients, one a 25-year-old maternity case, died in a hospital near Boston from lack of proper medical attention.

Dr. Getting was summoned to Barnes' office, where he presented all the facts in his possession to Asst. Attys. Gen. Jacob Spiegel and Roger Clapp.

Dr. Richard P. McKnight, who notified the district attorney of the county in which the private hospital is located concerning the deaths also was called to furnish what data he had.

Action also was expected today from the advisory council of the State Health Department as a result of the charge made yesterday by Dr. Getting during a legislative public health committee hearing on bills seeking to abolish the State medical approving authority.

Dr. Getting said that the five victims, all of whom died within seven months, had been attended by doctors who were graduates of two small medical schools, and that the death rate at the hospital in question "is 20 per cent higher than other hospitals."

Dr. Getting said that in one of the cases there was "no manual attempt" to give certain medical treatment to the patient, and that she might have lived if given proper treatment.

2 Families Flee Arlington Fire

Eight persons, four of them young children, fled or were carried to safety today when flames swept a two-family dwelling in Moore pl., Arlington.

Awakened by smoke, Mrs. Charles Day, second floor occupant, aroused her husband and the couple carried out their children, Francis, 3, and Donald, 1.

Day then pounded on the doors of his downstairs neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Gosse, who carried out their youngsters, Nancy, 4, and Thomas, 1.

New Yank Invasion Hits Negros Island

Another Philippine city blazed today from fires set by Japanese incendiarists in the face of a new American invasion launched while Yanks on three other Pacific island battlefronts forged to within sight of their goals.

British tank columns matched American gains by advancing through Burma at a pace that may put them in Rangoon within three weeks.

Latest American invasion was on the southern tip of Negros island, in the central Philippines. Amphibious forces landed yesterday three miles from Dumaguete.

The Japanese garrison immediately kindled fires and set off demolition charges in the red-roofed city they knew they could not hold. It was the second invasion of Negros. Fortieth Division units landed on the northwest coast a month ago.

Nearly 150 B-29s this morning raided six Kyushu island airfields, Kamikaze bases on southern Japan, 325 miles north of Okinawa.

For the seecond successive day the U. S. 24th Corps made a general advance through the hills and ridges of southern Okinawa, putting the Yanks within sight of Naha, capital of the southern Ryukyu islands.

Two infantry columns closing in on Baguio edged to within half a mile and a mile and a half respectively, of that battered enemy base on northern Luzon in the Philippines, nearing the climax of a 3½-months drive.

In the southern Philippines, a 24th Division column speared 12 miles through the Mindanao mountains to within 18 miles of the Davao gulf. Gains were measured by yards on two other Philippines battlefronts—both in the mountains of Luzon island. Strong air units supported two divisions trying to reach the Cagayan valley, Jap food source.

New 69th Division First To Join Russians at Torgau

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) —One of the Army's new divisions, the 69th, made the historic junction with the Russian forces at Torgau.

The outfit, led by Maj. Gen. Emil F. Reinhardt of Detroit, made its first announced appearance on the Western Front March 8 as part of the Fifth Corps of the First Army.

With the 11th Armored Division, it advanced on Leipzig, took Leuna April 15, captured Leipzig four days later and reached the Mulde river east of Leipzig April 22. Three days later, division patrols made the first contact with the Soviets.

The division, made up of drafted soldiers, was organized at Camp Shelby, Miss., May 15, 1943.

Maj. Gen. Emil Reinhardt

There was no 69th division in the first World War, but there was a New York regiment known as "The Fighting 69th."

Reinhardt, 56-year-old native of Bay City, Mich., is a graduate of West Point. In World War I, he served at various posts in this country and in 1919 was sent to Mayen, Germany, and later to Coblenz.

In 1923 he graduated from the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He subsequently served at the Army War College in Washington.

He took command of Camp Wolters, Texas, in 1941, and then became commanding general of the 76th Infantry Division at Ft. George G. Meade, Maryland, in May, 1942. The following November he assumed command of the 13th Corps at Providence, R. I., and a year later was named commander of the Eighth Corps at Brownwood, Tex. A short time later he went overseas.

Fishermen Earn Up to $15,000

By PAULINE WARREN

Uncertainty regarding labor if fish prices take their expected postwar tumble is preventing Boston's $10,000,000 fishing industry from cashing in on the current boom market.

Food rationing and meat shortages have zoomed the demand for fish until it is considered indispensable as a menu-stretcher in our national diet. Yet producers are reluctant to increase their war-depleted fleets to normal standards with Navy-released vessels.

Twenty of 35 commandeered trawlers have been released but eight of them, each with a capacity of 250,000 pounds, were still up for public sale last month.

But New England's fleet is still little more than half its prewar size.

Boston has added only about six boats to its fleet. Boat owners fear chaos when prices fall, because fishermen's earnings have reached unprecedented peaks.

Reports show that only 300 men of Boston's 1300 made less than $5000 last year. Many made $10,000 and some $15,000.

As fishermen don't work for wages, but share with the boat owner on each trip's catch, their earnings took a jump every time the price of fish went up. With each price fall, after the war, earnings will decrease.

Fishermen are an intrepid lot and have fought hard for their rights. They probably will not relinquish their present high earnings without a scramble.

Large companies feel that the results will be strikes, tieups and expensive delays in sailing.

It is inconceivable that men making about $5000 a year, while the price of fish off the boat is 7 and 9 cents a pound, would willingly go back to earning less than $2500 as they did in 1939 when the price of fish off the boat was only 3 cents a pound.

At least 70 per cent of Boston's fishermen are from Newfoundland, Iceland and Nova Scotia. They are probably the most independent and dauntless breed in the world.

Insistent on their rights, they will refuse to sail if no butter can be found to stock the boat, or if there is not enough meat.

Because their work is rough and often dangerous, requiring great endurance, they must have huge meals and frequent "mug-ups."

They work seven days a week, 12 to 16 hours a day, and often have six "mug-ups" a day. A "mug-up" is no mere snack—it's apt to be a heavy meal. So fishermen are constantly battling with OPA and the War Food Administration for more red points.

OPA finally granted them a slight increase in red points, under a tentative arrangement, pending investigation of their food needs. Each fisherman now gets a little over 5 red points a day.

Their union, the Atlantic Fishermen's Union (AFL) is highly respected and powerful. It was organized in 1937 by a famed skipper, Capt. Patrick McHugh, who used to sail on larger beam trawlers.

GIRL SETS FILLETING RECORD—Filleting more than 500 pounds of fish an hour at the Boston Fish Pier, Helen McCarey, 18, of Roxbury, is reputed to have set a new record in the processing of the food. "because we were not running into any opposition," Robertson said.

"We were having a hell of a time taking care of and disarming surrendering Krauts and sending them into Wurzen on foot."

The platoon stretched the five-mile limit to 20 miles and bumped head-on into the Soviets as the little convoy of six jeeps, armed only with Tommy guns and rifles, rolled into Grova.

Forty minutes after the division contact had ben confirmed Gen. Reinhardt telephoned his corps commander, Maj. Gen. Clarence Huebner of Washington, D. C., and was told to wait until the Army was notified.

Fifteen minutes later he was told to send an officer with an interpreter to contact the Russian forces and make arrangements for a formal meeting.

Division Operations Officer Col. Richard Conran of Brooklyn, N. Y., with an interpreter named Kulikowski, left by Piper Cub, intending to land at Riesa. They encountered small-arms and anti-aircraft fire and, being unable to locate either the American platoon or identify any vehicles below as definitely Russian, they returned.

The radio in the Cub was not on the same wave band as the platoon radio and no contact could be made.

After the initial meeting in the center of the bridge by Russian and American soldiers who crawled out on the girder hand over hand and more or less slid into contact. The American quartet went over to the east bank and met the "rest of the gang"—a major, captain and a lieutenant.

Then the whole "mob" of Soviets came out of the woods, as one of the Americans put it.

"The Russian major grabbed our names and units and buzzed off to tell his division commander," Robertson continued.

"We sat around with the Russkies and waited. Pretty soon someone broke out a bottle of wine which they gave us and then the canteen appeared and we had some toasts.

"Another Russky came along with sardines, chocolate and a bag of biscuits and we had a sort of party.

"Then I traded watches with the Russian captain. He got the best of the deal."

Two other patrols were sent out to join forces with Kotzebue's platoon but no word has been received of them at this writing. Lt. Edward A. Grumpert of Glen Ridge, N. J., and Capt. George J. Morley of Dumont, N. J., led the patrols sent out in the wake of Kotzebue's boys.

American patrols ran into all kinds of Germans liberated by the Allies as well as German civilians trying to escape the Russians.

They watched with interest one fight between German soldiers and their officers when the former tried to lay down their arms and surrender to an American patrol.

After a hot argument and a fist-fight the enlisted men won out. The battalion turned itself over and was sent on a self-conducted march to the Mulde river, where the balance of its division was interned.

Meeting

most of them under strength but many of them fighting with the desperation of the doomed. Many were SS units.

The meeting of the First Army and the Russians in the heart of Germany was a dramatic moment. The armies had come from places half a world apart.

Except for the incredible fanaticism on the die-hard Nazis' last stand, the meeting might have ended the worst war that the world has ever known.

But though the fight went on and may last for weeks, it carried the western and eastern Allies to the threshold of sure and imminent victory.

The two armies fought to the junction across the whole breadth of Europe—2200 airline miles from Stalingrad on the Volga and from the Normandy coast on the Atlantic which Eisenhowever invaded last June 6.

When the armies met on the green plain of the Elbe they shared even in the honors of smashing the most formidable fortress and one of the mightiest fighting forces on earth.

The Americans had come a bit over one-third of the way in a little under one-third of the time.

There was one immediate and one longer range significance of the junction. It split the German army into two great siege pockets—in effect meaning the end to organized resistance on a full Wehrmacht scale.

It put the Russian and American armies into closer co-ordination and closer comraderie of arms than ever before.

Operator of Rehoboth Still Sent to Prison

Frank Gomez, 44, of East Providence, R. I., was given a penitentiary sentence of a year and a day and fined $1000 today in federal court by Judge Ford.

Gomez was one of five men who pleaded guilty to charges of violating the internal revenue laws. They were arrested May 18, 1944, as a result of a raid at a Rehoboth farm where two 500-gallon stills were seized. The others were given lesser sentences.

My Day -:- By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Thursday—The Veterans Administration has existed ever since the last war. It has been upheld by the veterans' organizations, and without question Gen. Hines has done a remarkably good administrative job with conditions as they were up to this war.

Now, however, conditions have changed.

Instead of a comparatively few men being in veterans' hospitals, the number will be steadily increasing.

Instead of the type of case which came to the hospitals previous to 1941, when custodial care was, on the whole, fairly satisfactory, there is now a stream of youngsters who must get the best possible medical care in order to give us back vigorous and active citizens for the work which needs to be done in the world.

GEN. HINES is not a doctor admittedly, the salaries paid to doctors in the Veterans' Administration are not very high. Perhaps the worst situation is in the hospitals for mental care.

With our limited number of psychiatrists these particular hospitals should be near the big medical establishments, instead of which they have been placed in isolated parts of the country.

A metropolitan newspaper yesterday carried an editorial on the subject of the GI Bill of Rights and the Veterans Administration. They suggested that possibly it was a trifle difficult for Rep. Rankin's committee to do a really unbiased investigation of veterans' hospitals.

I DOUBT VERY MUCH whether any group of laymen visiting any of these hospitals could discover what really needs to be done, but there are qualified medical people who could get the information and give it to Congress.

In the interest of the taxpayer as well as in the interest of the young men who fought this war, I hope there will be a real investigation by qualified people.

Nazi Camp Horrors Shock U. S. Editors

By JOHN R. HEARST

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

PARIS, April 26—Eighteen American publishers and editors returned to Paris tonight after visiting the Buchenwald concentration camp at the special request of Gen. Eisenhower.

The group spent approximately three hours inspecting the Nazi horror camp which had aroused the American commander more than anything he has seen in this war.

I was one of this group of men who flew across the Atlantic to examine the evidence on the spot.

Although the group was rushed from the United States to the Buchenwald camp in 48 hours, some of the most shocking spectacles had to be disposed of earlier for sanitary reasons.

However, some ghastly, telltale evidence remained to prove the Nazis had deliberately sponsored starvation as a means of eliminating those inmates who had to be got rid of for political reasons, and some of the lesser folk no longer able physically to continue their slave labor.

One of the most shocking sights striking our eyes was the grisly stack of corpses flung in a heap for disposal, a disposal which had never taken place due to the rapid approach of the American forces.

The cadavers were frightfully emaciated, with bones showing through reedy legs and faces sunken to the very outlines of their skulls.

It was convincing evidence that these unfortunate victims of Hitlerism had been cold-bloodedly starved to slow death.

We were told that since March, 1938, 51,000 died in the Buchenwald camp in one way or another.

It was my impression that the visiting group of editors and publishers was fearfully shocked by this evidence of Nazi brutality.

It was universally felt that the fanaticism instilled in Himmler's henchmen gave them no regard whatever for human life or human suffering.

After leaving Buchenwald, our group was received by Gen. Eisenhower, who reiterated that he had asked us to come over here in order to give the American people the bare unvarnished truth of the horrors that were perpetrated under the Hitler dictatorship.

This we will certainly do on our return to our country.

Curley Trial Put Off to Thursday

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—Trial of James M. Curley (D.) of Massachusetts and six other associates in Engineers Group, Inc., on mail fraud, charges in connection with war contracts has been postponed again until next Thursday.

Monday it was postponed a week because of a sudden illness suffered by Curley.

Atty. William A. Paisley, who will prosecute for the government, indicated trial may be put over until fall if Curley's health does not improve.

Curley is a patient at the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was taken there Monday after he suffered a gall stone attack with infection at the Hotel Statler Saturday.

Gardeners Warned About Digging While Soil Is Wet

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

The recent rains were exactly what was needed to restore the soil to planting condition. The weather this spring was ideal for working the soil and the rains arrived just as the surface was beginning to dry out. However, the fresh rain poses another problem.

Every year gardeners face rainy spells and must wait until the land dries out before it can be worked. Wet soil should not be worked as it will cause a crust to form which makes poor working conditions later. Clay soils must be handled extra carefully.

One of the first insect pests to appear are cutworms. There is already some damage showing from this insect. When setting plants, place a low cardboard collar around each plant.

With row crops the best control is to use poison bran mash. Mix one quart of bran with a heaping teaspoon of paris green; dissolve three tablespoons of molasses in a half cup of water. Mix thoroughly, then add enough water to make a crumbly mash. A little citrus juice or green leafy material can also be added. Sprinkle bait lightly along rows or broadcast late in the evening as cutworms are night feeders. Three applications, about 10 days apart, should help to control this insect.

In checking several gardens I have noticed that small seeds are being planted too deep.

It's In the Bag

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 27 (AP)—Mrs. Madelyn Davidson, a housewife, heard golf clubs were bringing fancy prices so she got out her set to look it over.

There was something at the bottom of the bag and she pulled it out. She was pleased and astonished to find a brand new pre-war girdle with pre-war stockings attached. Then she remembered it was eight years ago when she was playing a round and, finding her style cramped she—well, you know the rest.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

In answer to the question submitted by G. P. O. and published yesterday, the amount of pay received by a captain, married, nine years in service and 21 months overseas, amounts to $382.

Q—I was appointed guardian of my brother-in-law's three children shortly after his death. He was a World War I veteran. One of the children recently attained the age of 18 and his allotment stopped while checks for the other two children increased in amount. Now one of the boys plans to enter the Navy. Will the third child's allotment be increased? S. A., Chelsea.

A—Yes; don't know the exact amount.

Q—Was honorably discharged recently from the Marine Corps by reason "unsuitable to the Marine Corps." What are my chances of being drafted again? J. M., Roslindale.

A—Excellent.

Q—Could you please tell me what the initials mean on my discharge "W. D. A. G. O."? C. D., Boston.

A—War Dept., Adjutant General's Office.

Q—My brother, member of the Merchant Marine, died in a Marine hospital in New Orleans. I paid expenses for his body to be shipped back here. We have never received his personal belongings as there seems to be something peculiar regarding his death. Whom might I contact, also regarding Marine insurance? R. S., East Cambridge.

A—Suggest you contact the local Merchant Marine headquarters at 177 Milk st., Boston. They will be glad ot assist you if within their power.

Q—I receive $37 a month family allowance from a son who is in the Army. I have only one daughter left and she has been giving me $15 weekly. She is getting married shortly and I will be losing her support. Is it possible to get my present allotment increased? R. L., Everett.

A—You may apply for chief dependency which amount to $50. Suggest you write for necessary application to Personal Affairs Office, 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston 15, Mass. Explain circumstances.

Q—Is it possible for me to send a photostatic copy of my discharge from Navy to Boston office where discharge buttons may be secured? Unable to get into Boston. E. D. C., Lawrence.

A—Navy states that original discharge must be produced. Suggest you send original by REGISTERED MAIL. Address: Fargo Barracks, U. S. Navy, Summer st., Boston, Mass. (Attention Commanding Officer.)

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the PEACE PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

THE ONLY ROAD TO WORLD PEACE

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, addressing the delegates to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco, faithfully and eloquently expressed the resolute determination of all Americans when he said:

"We must prevent, if human mind, heart and hope can prevent it, the repetition of the disaster from which the entire world will suffer in years to come.

"If we should pay merely lip service to inspiring ideals and later do violence to simple justice we would draw down upon us the bitter wrath of generations yet unborn . . .

"We must, once and for all, reverse the order and prove by our acts conclusively that right has might . . .

"We must build a new world—a far better world—one in which the eternal dignity of man is respected."

If the delegates privileged to represent the unnumbered millions on whom the burdens of this global conflict have fallen so heavily conduct their deliberations in that honorable manner, the conference will surely achieve its purposes and the war-weary world will be immeasurably healthier and happier.

It has been the failure to seek and make peace in a true spirit of justice and according to moral and spiritual faith that has always wrecked peace parleys and has invariably frustrated the highest aspirations of mankind.

We can avoid that mistake this time.

As President Truman warns, the very existence of humanity requires that we must avoid it.

VETERANS FIRST

THE Massachusetts House of Representatives has defeated legislation which would permit women teachers to hold their positions in the schools of the Commonwealth after marriage.

According to Mrs. Florence E. Cook, Roxbury member, the proposed law was designed to stop the practice of school boards dropping teachers from their permanent assignments when they marry and then hiring them to teach the same classes and the same subjects for a third of the regular salary.

Obviously, such methods are unfair and unreasonable.

Marriage does not impair a teacher's efficiency. On the contrary, it is likely to increase her ability, particularly if she has children of her own and acquires a mother's point of view.

Still we do not believe the legislators should be rebuked for their refusal to keep wives in the schools.

After the war ends, thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines—men who have fought all over the world to preserve democratic education—will want to be teachers.

These veterans should not be doomed to joblessness by the ambition of women to hold tenaciously to the employment they had before marriage.

DANGEROUS TREND

THE Census Bureau has announced that tuberculosis mortality increased in twenty-three States during 1942 and 1943.

New Hampshire led the country with a rise of 39.8 per cent.

And all the other New England States, with the exception of Connecticut, reported higher death rates.

Clearly our efforts to curb tuberculosis have been too little and too late.

And because of our complacency and laxity, hundreds of persons who might have been saved have been sacrificed.

Every city and town should undertake to X-ray without charge the chests of all inhabitants, especially those of school children.

Like rippling stream, nor witness seeks,
Who of his sweetheart's love is sure
Ne'er to the crowd his triumph speaks.

STILL ANOTHER postwar period prophet says the average citizen of the U. S. A. will not be able to buy a new automobile until 1947. In this connection, I note the French motor industry is scheduled to start production on July 1, 1945, and plans to produce 60,000 automobiles the first year and to step up the output considerably in the following year.

ROSES: Before going overseas to Europe, one girl's soldier sweetheart told her: "When peace comes to Europe the general public may not be immediately informed. But when you receive from me some roses ordered by wire you will know peace has arrived." This young woman received a box of roses on April 20. Or so I have been informed.

COMPLAINT: For generously proportioned middle aged women who are shopping for attire there should be similarly proportioned middle aged sales persons. A streamlined, statuesque, self-centered saleswoman gives a full-figured, fortyish customer an inferiority complex. These glamorous saleswomen, being so interested in themselves, take little interest in the customers. Besides, they are not in sympathy with the plump purchasers. That's what a stylishly stout New York matron says. Her complaint seems a reasonable one. We offer it to those it concerns for what it may be worth.

WHY? Add life's little mysteries: Why do Englishmen like dry cigars? Why is it making corn beef hash properly baffles so many hotel and restaurant cooks? Why does Phil Silvers appear in so many films and that brilliant comic Sid Silvers in none at all? Why do women with large, round faces wear small hats flat on their heads? Why is it that most butchers are horse players? Why is it women with husbands named Alfred, William or James always call them "Al," "Bill" and "Jim," but women with husbands named Charles always call them "Charles" and never "Charlie?"

HUSBANDS: Chicago husbands are the best providers, most generous and most appreciative matrimonial mates in the country. But the San Francisco husbands are the most entertaining companions and the best lovers. So it has been claimed by students of the nation's matrimonial situation. Our Mules & Men Department is checking this claim, but is not prepared to report in full. However, the following communication has just been received from a San Franciscan: "My first husband, a Chicagoan, was a wonderful person and an excellent provider, but he was no Charles Boyer in making love. Not even a Spencer Tracy. But my second husband, born and brought up in San Francisco, is marvelous."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—My husband says if you ask a baseball question he can't answer like a flash he will buy you a stogie and me a steak dinner at the best restaurant in town. A—Ask him this: When a batter is hit by a ball he himself hit he is out. Who gets the credit for the put-out in the box score? Q—Tell us six articles of male attire each named after a different man or rush two stogies for the sergeant and me. A—Stogies on way. I can think of only four. (1) MacIntosh overcoat named after Charles MacIntosh. (2) Raglan overcoat named after Lord Raglan. (3) Derby hat named after Lord Derby. (4) Sam Browne belt named after Gen. Sir Samuel Browne.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27—A few days ago, over in the Arizona desert, one of those telegrams came from Washington to a young woman of 26, the wife of an Army flier, whose most recent letter had announced that he had been decorated and promoted to captain. Now he was gone. He wouldn't be home.

Westbrook Pegler

That evening, after the girl had been put to bed, her mother blurted in rage through her tears: "Damn those politicians if they don't give us a decent peace this time—."

Although the present deliberations here in San Francisco have been pointedly described as preliminary discussions, to warn the people that they will not produce peace or even in its final form an organization to preserve peace, millions of human beings do anticipate something substantial and reassuring.

They expect much more than this conference is likely to produce and they would be hurt in their souls and made rebellious if they were to hear it referred to as a clambake, as it often is in these preliminary stages, and compared to those rites by which we choose our presidential nominees in the national conventions.

There are points of similarity to the nominating conventions, it is true, but people who have lost husbands and sons and others who have dissolved their homes and sacrificed young years in this war have great hopes which it were heartless to mock in this way.

IT WOULD BE dishonest not to admit that confusion, distrust and past experience justify at the beginning a lack of confidence that so unwieldly a meeting can give promise of a great peace.

There has been so much discussion already, there have been so many plans, understandings and tentative proposals that few men understand the basis on which this conference meets.

And many who for years attended Versailles, the Washington disarmament conference, the League of Nations and other European treaty meetings may be pardoned the comparisons which now come instinctively to mind out of the past.

At sight it is plain that Russia and the United States dominate the situation in the sense that these two must agree and in good faith if a good peace is to be given the world.

Yet it is plain, also, that the Americans are doubtful of Russia concerning Poland, and then the question arises whether the woman who damned the politicians would be willing to risk that peace for the sake of a victory on this point.

There are many Polish groups in the United States who would insist that Poland, the first nation to feel the might of the Nazis, at a time when the Russians were collaborating with Hitler, had been betrayed again, and here we wonder what would be the verdict of the widows and mothers who have lost their men if that came to be the issue on which the success or failure of the conference should be decided. And would Poland actually be worse off under Russian domination?

It is all in the official documents of the American government and beyond question this political activity, especially in the American labor movement in the early years of the New Deal, was intended to overthrow the American government by the violent revolution of a minority of the people.

It is true that the mechanics of operating this enormous Congress resemble the clambake or the national political convention. After all, there must be stages and flood lights, press rooms, ceremonies, orations and picturesque or grotesque characters, and they must be housed and fed and we are going in for a few amenities which are on the Old World or Oriental side.

And, in the end, the conclusions may be reached in the equivalent of the smoke-filled room, which is not to say, however, that they must necessarily be sordid.

For, after all, in Congress the conclusions often are shaped in committee rooms where smoking is not forbidden and nothing could be accomplished in any such meeting as this by full and open debate in many strange tongues.

Notwithstanding appearances, there IS ground for hope that this time the politicians will produce a promise of peace in which the American system need not succumb to an alien form of government. More depends on Russia, however, than on the United States.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 27—"The Naked Genius," all polished bright and cleaned up, is going to be produced by George Jessel under the title of "Doll Face." When 20th bought it after Joan Blondell appeared in it in New York ,it was obvious that it couldn't be made without some good old sapolio used, for there was much that was too censorable.

There is a chance that Carole Landis, who comes back here May 17, may be put into one of the singing parts by her former boy friend, Georgie.

Carole Landis

That reminds me that Georgie mustn't joke any more about feminine friends, especially when it concerns a sweet little girl who knows him only in passing, as does June Haver. In justice to Georgie, he didn't think it was going to be broadcast, and there was never any truth that he was marrying June.

I AM HAPPY to report that the delegates at San Francisco will see motion pictures from all countries. We like to think that pictures are playing a serious part in this very serious conference for peace, a gathering that may well mean the end of wars or another war in 20 years. The first picture to be shown is "The Silver Fleet," made in London. That is followed by "The Immortal Blacksmith," an M-G-M short, "Going My Way" and "Wilson" will later be shown to the foreign delegates. The schedule for movies is set for a week in advance and there will be pictures shown from every one of the 46 nations that have made motion pictures, including Sweden and Russia. In addition to the Alcazar Theater, which has been renamed United Nations Theater, a projector has been put in the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, where documentary films will be run at any time for any nation that wants to see them.

I HATE to tell this on Irving Berlin, but it's the truth. He visited Ingrid Bergman, Bing Crosby and Leo McCarey on the "Bells of St. Mary's" set, and when Ingrid and Bing played a farewell scene he had tears in his eyes. "That," he said, "is as fine acting as I have ever seen!" I keep hearing that Leo is outdoing himself both in the story and in the direction. But we would expect something pretty special from the Academy-winning director of "Going My Way," wouldn't we, to say nothing of those two top favorites, Ingrid and Bing?

MARTHA RAYE goes to New York the second week in September to start rehearsals for "Belle Brody," the new John Wildberg musical. I talked to her mother today and she says Martha has moved to the Valley with her husband and baby and hasn't so much as a telephone in her house. Mrs. Raye tells me that she is going to New York with Martha and that they are taking little Melody alone. Jule Styne and Sammy Cahn will write the songs and lyrics. They are, at the moment, working on the music and lyrics for Sam Goldwyn's "The Kid from Brooklyn."

A VERY FUNNY story is the one Bill Eythe told friends over the long-distance telephone today. He got in the elevator to go to a party Ruth Chatterton was giving in New York. The only other occupant was a woman who kept a newspaper in front of her face. She annoyed Bill, who wasn't interested in her anyway, and he said to the operator of the car, "Looks like everybody thinks she's Garbo nowadays." With that, the woman put down the paper, and it was Garbo, also on her way to Ruth's party. Bill says he's still blushing, but he shouldn't be—it served the lady right!

JUST TO MAKE SURE that the two Agnes De Mille ballet numbers in "One Touch of Venus" come out on the screen as effective as they've been on the stage, Mary Pickford will move cameras and lights into the heart of a Chicago audience, photographing the numbers, "One Hour for Lunch" and "Ozone Heights," just as they are played in a regular performance. Later, this will be used as the "text book" for the screen dances.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: George Stone, still in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, is reported very much better. He's been pretty sick, but he'll soon be able to resume work; Helmut Dantine leaves for New York, his first trip since he made a hit in pictures. No one is not a reconciliation with his wife. I am told that after Ida Lupino is free, that's it; Colleen Moore dancing at Ciro's with Mervyn Le Roy in a rumba lost her hat and one shoe. "We don't do it that way," she said, "in Chicago." Mervin has been asked to direct "Blue Skies," but he won't be able to do it with "The Robe" taking his time; the whole movie colony, it seems, was at Ciro's to hear Joe E. Lewis, who is packing them in every night. Pretty little Martha Stewart sits on the side lines watching him. Joan Davis was there and nobody laughed as loud as she did over Joe E.'s quips.

GRACIE ALLEN and Margaret Ettinger wire me from San Francisco that Gail Patrick is visiting her Navy husband and they saw her at lunch; Constance Bennett leaves for New York May 9, now that "Paris Underground" is all finished. She and Gilbert Roland have not yet reached any sort of an agreement; Deanna Durbin, with her hair in braids over her ears, dancing with Felix Jackson.

"American wives, mothers and sweethearts are doing a wonderful job at home. Day after day of hard work and night after night of the vacuum of loneliness mingled with fear cannot be called living. Years of hopes and prayers for postwar happiness can be blasted with one telegram from the War Department.

But I hope the girls of America will stop criticizing the girls of other lands for falling in love with Yanks and occasionally carrying one off with a wedding ring. For most of them the world has been full of deeper loneliness and more horrible fear than Uncle Sam's nieces have ever known, or will ever know as long as the Yank soldier can fight.

Listen to the story of one Chin-Up girl I've met overseas.

VERA AND LARRY had planned to have a London church wedding as soon as he got his engineering degree. But he was called up during his final term and was shipped off before they could even buy the wedding ring.

That was five years ago. Vera wrote to him every day after he left. She wrote him after the day's ten hours of work pushing a wagon through a defense factory for less than ten dollars a week. She wrote him between the bombing raids that left her homeless three times, and once forced her to sleep for a month in the tubes. She wrote him after the deaths of her mother and father—suddenly, but together, as they had always wanted it.

But finally word came that Larry was coming home from India on his first furlough. Could they be married right away?

Vera dried her happy tears, gathered up the precious clothes' coupons she had saved, and ran off to buy her wedding dress.

THAT afternoon a robot bomb hit the shopping district of a suburban town in England. They found Vera in the wreckage, clutching a package of blue taffeta.

Vera will live, but the doctors say she will never walk again. That's why Vera is happy that Larry's furlough never came through.

Boston After Dark

ONE OF A HANDFUL of Boston College graduates to espouse the Republican party's cause in professional politics, young Peter Jordan, G. O. P. whip in the House, will oppose Mayor Carey's bid for re-election in Revere this fall . . . Lt. Col. Charles MacArthur, former Boston newspaperman and co-author of "The Front Page," "Lulu Belle," "Twentieth Century" and "Gentlemen of the Jury" starring Mrs. MacArthur (who is Helen Hayes) has been renewing acquaintanceships in Boston as senior press relations officer of a cordon of high-ranking Army officers who have been here briefly in line of duty . . . The four stars denoting major engagements on the MacArthur breast-load of campaign ribbons are insignia dating from World War I . . . Charlie served with the famous Rainbow Division, and wrote the first magazine serial treating the original World War with some levity . . . The series ran in Liberty, and was called "War Bugs."

LOU HOLTZ, the stage and night club comedian, is now a minority owner of San Francisco's Fairmount Hotel . . . The famous hotel's purchase by a syndicate (mainly Bostonian) was reported here Monday . . . "New" radio sets are on the legitimate market in Greater Boston for the first time since curtailment of vital industries was supposed to have closed down that business early in the war . . . Few of these sets, however, carry the nickle-plated panel testifying to the identity of the manufacturer.

MOST OF THESE "new" instruments are assembled from parts picked up by canny individuals who have shopped throughout the country (and on a legitimate basis) . . . Sets which retailed at $20 in prewar days are being peddled without much sales resistance at $50 and upward . . . OPA ceilings were established for standard brands of radio sets, but this—the boys in the radio manufacturing business say—was not much more than a gesture, as construction of the more widely advertised radios was either taken over by Uncle Sam or restricted so completely that little remained of the booming commercial industry of pre-Pearl Harbor days.

WHILE THE grand old veteran of baseball's early days, Hughie Duffy, was being congratulated by friends and well-wishers who had read of Hughie's election to the baseball Hall of Fame, Judge Dan Gillen of the Suffolk Municipal Court and his associate, Judge Carr, hastened to add their smiles and words of greetings in the dining room of the City Club.

JUDGE GILLEN felt in the mood to reminisce . . . "Hughie certainly deserves his rating with the hall-of-famers," said the Judge. "But I wonder how many of our fellow-Bostonians recall a gentleman named Gene O'Connor, who hailed from Roxbury, and who made baseball in general—and Sunday baseball in particular—his chief life's interest.

"THE INTREPID GENE was a real character . . . Many of us who knew the old Cabot st. playground can remember . . . Gene was convinced that Sunday baseball was a privilege to which the workingman was entitled . . . But Massachusetts legislation prohibited professional baseball on Sunday in the state.

"HE AND THESE FRIENDS would descend on the playground, and proceed to stage a game of pickup ball themselves . . . But the arrival of the patrol wagons soon disrupted this small revolt . . . Finally, Gene was left with his crusade and no followers . . . This did not deter him . . . After Sunday dinner, the crusading Mr. O'Connor would go to the playground himself . . . He would carry a bat, a ball, and a glove . . . He would knock a high fly into the air, drop his bat, don his glove and chase — and sometimes catch—the ball himself.

"THE POLICE interfered again—under the law, of course, . . . But for weeks and weeks, as I recall it, Gene permitted himself to be arrested as a violator of the Lord's Day ordinance . . . After a long series of these Sunday arrests, it seems that the stern arm of the law relaxed itself slightly, and Gene was permitted at the Cabot st. playground.

"WHEN THE SUNDAY baseball law finally was passed, I wondered how our friend Mr. O'Connor had celebrated the event . . . But I can't recall that he was among the prominent citizens whose opinions were solicited on the merit of the legislation . . . I think that Gene O'Connor merits a place of his own in our Boston hall of baseball fame . . . I wonder how he is getting along."

WASHINGTON, April 27—There's been a terrific story kicking around this town for more than two years without anyone—including J. Edgar Hoover—tumbling to it.

Do you know why Clare Boothe Luce always wears a hat—no matter how cuckoo — in all the photographs she has taken around the capital?

Clare Luce

Because she posed without a skimmer her first day in Congress — and the hatting industry of Connecticut howled bloody murder!

For the life of me I cannot understand how that piece of world-shaking intelligence eluded the nation's press. Reporters, particularly female, would have offered their souls for it. In fact, I know one newspaper doll, whose picture appears with a new hat nearly every day, who would have given every hat in her safe and three of her dearest friends' for the story.

I would identify this hat-mad doll by name except that it would be unethical, and maybe even unchivalrous. So there is no use trying to pump the secret from close-mouthed Sir Galahad X. Dixon that it is the Countess Austine Cassini.

Would you like to know how I finally got hold of the story? Simply because the hatters of Connecticut ran short of hydrogen peroxide!

HAT-MAKING is one of Connecticut's biggest industries. It represents 75 per cent of all manufacuring in Danbury and 35 per cent in Norwalk. If people go bareheaded, Connecticut goes bare . . . Well . . . Anyway . . . It is not prosperous.

The hatters were faced with a complete shutdown for lack of hydrogen peroxide which is used in shrinking the hats. Incidentally, there wouldn't be such things as felt hats if there wasn't some way to shrink the material, which is mostly fur. The fur wouldn't hold together otherwise.

The industry used to use mercury almost exclusively in this operation, but a lot of hat workers got mercurial poisoning, which is akin to the deadly radium poisoning. Two years ago the Connecticut Legislature passed a law banning mercury and the hatters have since used hydrogen peroxide.

The industry's plight was presented to the WPB by Sen. Brien McMahon. The senator, who also comes from Connecticut, although he is not married to Henry Luce, pleaded so successfully the WPB allocated an emergency ration of 32,500 pounds of peroxide.

I KNOW Sen. McMahon pretty well because I was with him for weeks in London, Kentucky, when he was an assistant attorney general. He was prosecuting the Harlan mine owners who were accused of employing strong-arm methods on union officials.

(NOTE: This was in the wicked old days when employers were able to get tough, too.)

So I called the Senator about the hatting hullabaloo.

"Every loyal Connecticutan should wear a hat at all times, except possibly when getting a haircut," said Senator McMahon. "Mrs. Luce posed without a hat once and the industry went into an uproar!"

"What's that?" I yelped. "What—when—?—

"The first day she came to Congress," said Senator McMahon. "The howls were so fearful she has never posed around here hatless since!"

I GRILLED Senator McMahon about his own hat-wearing. He swore he has always worn one in public.

"Before you decided to run for the Senate? I asked—suspicious lout that I am.

"Yes," he insisted, firmly. "Before—and after."

I REMEMBER one thing connected with Senator McMahon and the Kentucky trial with great poignancy. There were two CIO organizers who complained of having been kicked around something brutal by the mine owners—gosh, that seems a long time ago!

The name of one poor downtrodden CIO leader was—so help me—Marshal Musick!

The other was Green Cornett!

JUST TALKED to Sen. Happy Chandler for the first time since he was made baseball commissioner. Some friends were kidding him he ought to give himself a colorful name like his predecessor, Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

"You are a Kentucky hillbilly," said one pal, "and you went to Transylvania University. Why not call yourself 'Transylvania Mountain Chandler!'"

Jekyll-Hyde Pair Admit Breaks

Two Lynn men, who operated a garage by day and allegedly prowled the city and near-by communities in a night-time series of burglaries, today pleaded guilty of several charges before Judge Reeve in Lynn District Court.

John Weeden, 29, of South Elm st., trapped at gunpoint a few hours earlier in a Saugus cafe, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and larceny in connection with the Saugus break and four others in Lynn.

Albert T. Thurlow, 30, of Lyme st., Malden, who was picked up after Weeden had been questioned, pleaded guilty as being an accessory before the fact to two of the alleged breaks. Police said he planned the breaks and acted as a lookout.

Judge Reeve held both for the grand jury and set bail at $5000 each.

IN 1870

transportation in Boston was far different from that of today. Horse cars and carriages with their limitations were the only modes of travel available. It was in those early days that the Haffenreffer brewery was founded upon a basis of fair dealing and quality production.

IN 1945

modern transportation with its great advantages of speed, efficiency and service as compared with the horse-car age has achieved no more relative progress than that attained by the brewing industry. Haffenreffer & Co., Inc., brewers of PICKWICK ALE, continuing steadily through periods of depression and prosperity, have grown to occupy an eminent position as one of America's great breweries.

Romantic Mood Perfume Ideal for Spring Dates

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THE LILT and meaning of fine perfume can be as magnetic as music. Perhaps that is why some wonderful fragrances seem to have been especially conceived for certain moments . . . and occasions which carry down through the years in memory.

One such perfume . . . which we're sniffing as we write . . . has the particular appeal that is allied in our thoughts with the significance of late spring . . . early summer . . . with brides, with the out-of-doors . . . with young girls anticipating another and another tomorrow. It is light and fresh and partyish . . . and as delightful a concession to the stirrings of the vanity as powder and lipstick.

This perfume you use as you do your favorite color . . . because it blends with the nuances of many moods. It breathes of those tiny, pearl-like bells which suggest romance everywhere.

GOLDEN MEMORIES

It is memorably the perfume of true love . . . for how else could my mind be traveling back over the years when I stood under a flower-laden canopy and said my traditional "I do" . . . and be reveling in the sweet memories of a day that has paved my life with joy serene and contented bliss.

Funny we should be thinking of a decade ago when we were a bride . . . but that's what this perfume does to you . . . conjures up memories of delightful reminiscences if you've answered the wedding bell clang . . . or stirs the heart and mind to the ritual that is destined to come.

We've suggested it to many brides-to-be . . . and every one has loved it, for it is so traditionally reflective of the expected happy day. Though not alone for such a mood or occasion is this perfume a winner.

More than any other that we've sniffed and used perhaps . . . this fragrance seems to go with the new greenness and white clouds of May mornings . . . to lend a note of luxury . . . much as a rose on a breakfast tray . . . to our simple workaday existence . . . and, in fact, to add to our everyday attractiveness. Today, I'm just a sentimental lady of luxurious loveliness.

For the name of this romantic mood perfume akin to love, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I WONDER if I dare," is what the handbook says about this pictured lovely. She's bound to be coaxed . . . looking as alluring as she does in this new net Arpad headress . . . designed after the flattering saris worn by Indian women . . . and perfect for a bridal picture of exquisite softness. The discussed perfume and the Van Cleef and Arpels designed diamond flower . . . clipped Hindu fashion above the middle of the forehead . . . would be charming companions for the beautiful bride . . . or her beautiful sister.

Wife Longs for Real Home

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: Life (and home) is what you make it. True, if both husband and wife are in accord. But what's to be done when a man leads his own life, phones the "other woman" on his way to business every morning, takes his own time to come home for meals, when at home reads the paper, turns on the radio and dozes.

That's my life. My husband never even takes me to a movie. Of course, I could go alone, but that's so forlorn. Would it be better if I were the quarrelsome type and raised Cain, if I sought interests in others?—but that's not my way. All I want is a real home and a kind word now and then from a husband not aware of me.

S. W.

To full one's life full to overflowing with outside interests is the best medicine in a case like this. Then, sometimes, the miracle happens. The absorbed and neglectful husband realizes there's a real person in his home, not a shadowy, ghost-like creature who flits about the house sadly.

And these days it's easier to forget one's personal sorrows in working for the Red Cross, caring for children in day nurseries whose mothers are doing war work, helping out as a nurses' aide in hospitals. To let one's sorrows, lonesomeness, lack of appreciation get you down is the fatal thing.

Eggs Plentiful; Use Them Freely; Tested Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

ONE CHARACTERISTIC of our friends whom we sometimes call "good eggs" is they like people, and nearly everyone likes them. They are known as good mixers. It is this property of mixing well with other foods which places eggs high on the list of menu favorites.

Now is the time to make the most of egg recipes. Eggs are plentiful and unrationed and a good substitute for meat. Let's eat more of them.

BAKED CRUSTY OMELET

1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 tbsp. bacon fat or shortening
5 eggs, well separated
¼ cup milk ¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Mix rice cereal with bacon fat; heat in heavy skillet until crisp and brown; distribute evenly over bottom of skillet. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored; add milk and seasonings. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into yolks. Turn egg mixture carefully into skillet on top of the rice cereal; cook over low heat until lightly browned underneath (about 5 minutes). Place in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 10 minutes or until omelet is brown on top. Cut into edge of omelet one inch on opposite sides; fold in half along cuts. Remove from skillet and serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

SHRIMP AND CORN CASSEROLE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
4 tbsp. flour
2 cups milk
½ tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
1 No. 1 can shrimp (7 oz.)
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 eggs
Fine crumbs

Melt butter or margarine; blend in flour. Gradually add milk, cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper. Drain shrimp, adding liquid to sauce. Add corn. Beat eggs slightly, stir into mixture. Pour into greased casserole or individual ramekins; top with shrimp. Sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) half-hour. Serve as dinner main dish. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

EGG SALAD

6 hard-cooked eggs
1 tbsp. celery, diced
1 tbsp. onion, grated
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of cayenne
About ½ cup mayonnaise

Cut up the eggs coarsely; add celery, grated onion, seasonings and mayonnaise. Mix lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. Garnish with strips of pimiento, chopped parsley and stuffed olives. Makes 6 servings.

FROZEN CUSTARD

2 cups milk ½ cup sugar
2 eggs ⅛ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Scald milk and stir into eggs, sugar and salt, which have been thoroughly mixed together. Return to fire over simmering water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly or coats a spoon. Cool, add vanilla and freeze. If frozen in refrigerator, freeze rapidly, stirring 2 or 3 times during freezing.

In making the frozen custard, use top milk, or part cream, if a richer mixture is desired. Four yolks or 1 egg and 2 yolks may be used instead of 2 eggs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING

1½ cup raisins
Thin buttered sliced bread (about three slices)
4 eggs 2 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. nutmeg
Pinch cinnamon
2 cups milk

Scatter raisins in a quart buttered baking dish. Place a layer of the buttered bread on them. Add more raisins, then more bread, alternating the two until they are all used up. Break the eggs into a pan, leaving out one egg white. Beat eggs well and add the sugar, spices and milk. Beat well and pour into baking dish. Let the dish stand for about 10 minutes. Then place it in a pan of hot water and bake for about 45 minutes in a moderate to slow oven (350 deg. F.). Cover with meringue made of the remaining egg white. Return to oven to brown delicately. Serve warm or cold.

Young and Flattering

By BETTINA BEDWELL

MOLYNEUX, famed designer of Paris and London, is still a mighty potent name in fashions, and his models continue to come to this country and to affect the styles. This Spring he has sent over coats that are as soft and feminine as dresses. They are very young and flattering.

One of the new Molyneux coats is sketched by Miss Dulin. It was imported by Villa Zigmund, and is, as you see, very like a dress in its softness. Made of navy blue fine wool, the coat has borders of narrow white grosgrain ribbon, borders that edge the revers at the neck, the entire front closing and the hem. The bishop sleeves of the coat also have white bands at the cuffs and a vertical inset pocket in the skirt is edged by white. Molyneux pairs this coat with a navy dress having sleeves and yoke of white rough crepe.

Fashion

A SHORT, cutaway jacket suit with elliptic closing and rounded shoulder pockets . . . and designed in linen-like silk and rayon in tulip yellow with matching bone buttons . . . by Anthony Blotta . . . is as gay and cheerful as a spring flower . . . with dressmaker's touches that are almost fragile. From her head to her toes . . . the model bespeaks warm spring and early summer.—R. M.

Churchill Hails U. S.-Red Union As Signal to All March Forward

LONDON, April 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill issued this statement supplementing the official announcement of the Russian-American junction:

"After long journeys, toils and victories across the land and oceans, across so many deadly battlefields, the armies of the great Allies have traversed Germany and have joined hands together.

"Now their task will be the destruction of all remnants of German military resistance, the rooting out of the Nazi power and the subjugation of Hitler's Reich.

"For these purposes ample forces are available and we meet in true and victorious comradeship and with inflexible resolve to fulfil our purpose and our duty.

"Let all march forward upon the foe."

All Over July 4, Clare Luce Predicts

LONDON, April 27 (AP)—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, Connecticut Republican who recently returned here from the continent, said today the war in Europe was over except for large-scale mopping up operations which "ought to be over by July 4."

The blonde Congresswoman is en route home after a tour which took her to the battlefronts of Italy and Germany and through an inspection of Nazi internment camps.

Fred Allen to Attend Downey Fete May 29

Fred Allen has notified George Hansen, chairman of the James E. Downey testimonial dinner, that he will be able to come to Boston on May 29 to act as toastmaster at the Statler Hotel.

Allen was taken ill with a local infection while attending a preview of his latest movie at Roanoke, Va. He returned to New York for further treatment. Allen's condition is not serious and he expects he will be in good health in two weeks.

Gov. Tobin is honorary chairman of the Downey testimonial and he will be one of the speakers.

LaMotta 10-3 Choice to Beat Lytell at Garden

By JACK CONWAY

JAKE LaMOTTA of New York, one of the busiest middleweights that ever pulled on a glove, will have to step at top speed at all times to win from Bert Lytell of California in their 10-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tonight. In his only previous Boston ring appearance, the aggressive and hard hitting LaMotta handed Coley Welch a decisive defeat.

Lytell has been a frequent visitor to Boston rings. He is a southpaw, has exceptional speed, is a good student of boxing and hits sharply from every angle.

Jake LaMotta

On boxing class one must install LaMotta a 10 to 3 favorite. Ray (Sugar) Robinson is the only boxer who appears to have the edge on LaMotta. Jake has one win to his credit over Robinson, but he has also been beaten three times by Sugar. It is a case of where Robinson's speed more than offsets LaMotta's aggressiveness and hard thumping powers.

Lytell calls attention to the fact it was Robinson's skill and speed that enabled him to win from LaMotta.

"I believe the same assets will make it possible for me to win the duke at the Garden," said Lytell. "I am much faster than LaMotta, and when Jake comes rushing at me he will be an easy target."

LaMotta, on the other hand, intends to rely upon his boring in tactics and walloping power to win.

It will be the old story of a boxer against a puncher, and this kind of a match usually furnishes action.

Brother Joe on Card

JOE LaMOTTA, Jake's brother, will also be on the card with Davis Carren of New Jersey as an opponent in a six-round bout. Joe is also favored to win. Like Jake, Joe packs a healthy punch and has been winning his bouts by kayos.

There will be a secondary 10-round feature in which Walter (Pop-Eye) Wood of New York, who does considerable clowning in his bouts but who usually manages to win, will have J. C. Wilkins of New York as an opponent.

Paul Regan of South Boston and Bobby Allen of Boston will box six rounds, while a four-round tussle will bring together Bobby Pooles of Portland and Vernie Lano of Lynn.

Fite Card Tonight

TEN ROUNDS

Jake LaMotta (New York) vs. vs. Bert Lytell (Fresno, Cal.); Walter "Pop-eye" Woods (New York) vs. J. C. Wilkins (New York).

SIX ROUNDS

O'Neill Out To Chase Jinx

PHILADELPHIA, April 27 — This was almost a replica of Sunday at Fenway Park. The A's and Red Sox were at it again. And again the wind was whistling through the press coop rafters.

Too, the attendance was slim, and to complete the picture there das old No. 17, Russ Christoper himself, ready to side-arm the Sox to defeat again.

There was one difference. Instead of Rex Cicil in the box for the Sox, Del Baker chose Emmett O'Neill to make his first start of the season. O'Neill pitched a neat five-inning relief trick against the A's last week.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Busch threw out Newsome. Steiner grounded out, Siebert to Christopher, who covered first. Burns threw out Fox. NO RUNS.

ATHLETICS — Metro walked. Peck doubled, Metro stopping at third. Estelalla walked. Hayes lined to Newsome, who threw to Steiner, doubling Peck at second. Seibert singled, scoring Metro, Estalella stopping at second. Hall singled, scoring Estalella and sending Siebert to third. Busch doubled, scoring Siebert, Hall stopping at third. Burns was purposely passed. Newsome threw out Christopher. THREE RUNS.

Braves-Phils Game Off

By BILL GRIMES

After a two-day layoff, the Braves hoped to open a three-day four-game series with the Phillies this afternoon at Braves Field. The schedule called for single games this afternoon and tomorrow and a doubleheader on Sunday. A week ago, the Braves took two out of three from the Blue Jays in Philadelphia. They should have made a clean sweep of the series. Despite the fact that they have five infielders out of action due to injuries, the Braves should be able to firmly establish themselves in the first division during this series.

The Barretts were named opposing pitchers for the series opener, Charles "Red" for the Braves and Richard "Kewpie" for the Blue Jays.

For two days, "Red" Barrett has been waiting for another opportunity to go out in quest of a victory. He was beaten in his first and only start by the Giants, after hurling two hit shutout ball for seven innings. But, the same "Redhead" has come up with two nice pieces of relief pitching.

BULLETIN

Cold weather and wet grounds forced postponement of today's scheduled Braves-Phils series opener. The teams play a single game tomorrow, starting at 2 o'clock, and the game will mark the first Ladies' Day of the season here.

He went to the rescue a week ago today in Philadelphia and held the Blue Jays in check in the last of the ninth, after "Butch" Nieman's home run had put the Braves out in front. And, then, he came back in the first game Sunday and saved the game for Nate Andrews.

Manager Freddie Fitzsimmons brought some old time local favorites to town with his Phillies. First and foremost, he has Jimmy Foxx, whose bat propelled the Red Sox to many victories in the old days. "Double X" is staging a grand comeback. Judging from his streamlined physique, Foxx has worked as hard, if not harder, than any of the Blue Jays' rookies. He has perspired off enough weight to tip the scales at 198 and he is hitting with the snap and power that gained him the reputation as one of baseball's greatest batters. He started his first game for the Blue Jays Wednesday, playing third base in place of "Bitsey" Mott.

Vince Di Maggio is patrolling center field for the Blue Jays, with his usual effectiveness. Vince reached large John Hutchings for a titanic home run drive into the upper stands a week ago. Johnny Peacock, another former Red Soxer, is doing most of the catching for the Blue Jays and Anton Karl, who was in Tom Yawkey's pay who was on Tom Yawkey's pay a starting pitcher for Fitzie last week.

There is a brother combination in the middle of the infield, Wes and Gran Hamner. Until yesterday Mott was at the hot corner but he will be used as utility as long as Jimmy Foxx' legs hold out. The Hamner brothers are from Richmond, Va. Wes, the older by three years, is a newcomer to the Blue Jays but Gran played 21 games last September. Wes is the better by a wide margin and "Bitsey" Mott, who came up from Utica, as a short stop may get Gran's job.

Vince Di Maggio is flanked in the outfield by "Buster" Adams, who didn't report until a week ago yesterday, and Vance Dinges, a string bean left hander, who belonged to Louisville, but was drafted by the Phillies from the Red Sox farm club at Scranton.

Charlie Workman will be at third today but otherwise the Braves' lineup was to be the same that took the measure of the Dodgers last Tuesday, when "Butch" Nieman connected with a three-run homer to mount his RBI to 11 for the season, which in his case is only eleven games.

After this week, all games played at Fenway Park and Braves Field except those scheduled for Saturdays and Sundays, will start at 2:30. General Managers Eddie Collins and John Quinn reached that agreement yesterday. They are of the opinion that the earlier starting time will meet with the approval of the fans.

Under the new time, businessmen will be able to return to their offices and housewives will be home in time to prepare dinner. And, the dyed-in-the-wool fans, who never can get enough of the national pastime, will have the opportunity to take in the Park League twilight games.

On Saturdays, games at Fenway Park and Braves Field will start at the usual hour, 2 o'clock and Sunday double-headers at 1:30.

Bob Quinn returned from New York yesterday. He was delighted over the selections his committee made for the Hall of Fame. He reported that the Hartford, the Braves Class A farm club, is beginning to show some promise and predicts that Manager Merle Settlemire will have a good club when he starts the defense of the Eastern League title.

Just as soon as they received word that yesterday's game was called, the Dodgers started back to Flatbush. Leo Durocher was peeved at the weatherman. And well he might be, for the rain probably cost Brooklyn its best chance of the season to take the Braves over the jumps.

Manager Joe Cronin, who broke his ankle last week in New York, is resting comfortably at his Newton Center home. At least, he was until he started to listen to Tom Hussey's broadcast of the yesterday's Red Sox-Senators game.

INSPIRATION—Pete Gray, Browns one-armed outfielder, autographs ball for PFC Pat Gervace of Cleveland who lost right arm in Germany. Grevace, thrilled, said: "Pete has shown me and my buddies the way." AP Wirephoto

Derby List Ready, Date Still Mystery

By DAVE WILSON

According to latest word from Louisville, nominations have already closed for the Kentucky Derby, and the list of eligibles is expected to be made public within a few days.

The dispatch, however, failed to mention when and where the 1945 "Run for the Roses" will be held.

Last year 148 3-year-olds were nominated for the $75,000 "Street-Car Derby." This year's list is expected to total more than 100 nominations.

About 30 of the nominees for the "Bluegrass Classic" are already stabled at Churchill Downs, and they include among others John Marsch's unbeaten Free For All and the Calumet Farm's Pot O'Luck.

Due to the fact that the race will be held at an unknown date, Pavot, Walter M. Jefford's unbeaten colt, is expected to be included among the list of eligibles.

It was owner Jefford's original intention to pass up the race.

Lou Smith, general manager of Rockingham Park, is back in town after a brief visit to New York. Uncle Lou says there's nothing new on the racing situation. He's just keeping his fingers crossed and hoping for an early go-ahead signal.

Mort Cooper Misses Trip

ST. LOUIS, April 27 (AP)—Mort Cooper, star righthander for the St. Louis Cardinals, who with his brother, Walker, has been asking a new salary contract for $15,000, did not go to Cincinnati with the team last night.

President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals disclosed that Cooper told him yesterday he would not make the trip but gave no reason. Breadon said he had no further information.

Cooper's train and hotel reservation were cancelled, the Cardinal office said today, at Mort's request.

At Cincinnati Manager Billy Southworth confirmed that Cooper was not with the club and added "it makes no difference in our plans."

Lee Havener, the Cooper brothers' attorney in their salary dispute, declared "that's news to me" when queried concerning Mort's absence in Cincinnati. Walker, who remained here to await induction into the armed service Monday, said he didn't know his brother's whereabouts and other efforts to find Mort were unavailing. His telephone was reported as disconnected.

Farrar Main Threat In Cathedral Grind

By BILL SMITH

Coast Guardsman Clayton Farrar, who found the gruelling 26 miles and 385 yards of the B. A. A. marathon more than he could negotiate, will have another chance over the Cathedral A. A. 10-mile handicap run tomorrow afternoon.

For 18 miles in the historic Patriots' Day classic, Clayton loped along in front like Swifty the mechanical rabbit until he reached Auburndale where his tired body refused to go any further.

Farrar will be more at home over the abbreviated distance and although starting from scratch appears to have an excellent chance of repeating last year's triumph.

Between 50 and 60 entrants are expected for the starting gun which will send the field scampering off through the streets of the South End, Dorchester and South Boston in quest of the Archbishop Cushing trophy.

All the "biggies" in road racing with the exception of Johnny Kelley, winner of the B. A. A. marathon, have sent in their entries and it's quite possible that Johnny will have a change of heart and be a last minute addition.

West Acton's mighty mite finished second behind Farrar in the 1944 race and would like to even up for that defeat.

ROBBINS LIKES COLD

If Johnny's main objection (that the race is too soon after the B.A.A. run) can be whittled down, he will probably be right in line with the others at the 3 o'clock starting time.

Cold weather will be a boon to Charlie Robbins, Jr., who moves up several notches when the winds are biting and the air is sharp. Charlie, who is also starting from scratch, could easily be the winner, especially with the help of the weatherman.

Lloyd Bairstow, second to Kelley in the Boston Marathon, is another handicap starter who rates attention. Bairstow held Kelley to even terms in the B. A. A. race but faded slightly in the final stages.

On a leave of absence from the Navy, Ted Vogel expects to make a creditable showing. Vogel has been training strenuously for the Cathedral run and should be among the first ten at the finish.

Director Tom Haggerty of the Cathedral A. A. has agreed to accept entries as fast as they come in, as he wants the 35th annual handicap event to top all previous races.

Athletics Off To Good Start

By Associated Press

Connie Mack may have the American League "dark horse" in his Shibe Park stable if rookie Hal Peck and the veteran Philadelphia Athletics can hold their early spring form.

Tied for second place with the Yankees, because of a seven-run rally in the fourth inning against New York yesterday, Mr. Mack had reason to think "this might be the year."

Peck's .367 batting average must be pleasant music for the 82-year-old manager, who paid a reported $50,000 cash and players to Milwaukee for the outfielder last fall.

The Brooklyn Dodgers turned him down after he shot off a couple of toes sniping at rats but a .345 batting average in the American Ass'n had all the scouts buzzing around Milwaukee last summer.

With Buddy Hall enjoying a hit spree, Frankie Hayes off to a good start and Russ Christopher, Don Black and Bobo Newsom in winning form, the A's rate a second look.

The St. Louis Browns showed signs of their 1944 stuff as Nels Potter pitched and batted his way to a 4-3 edge over Cleveland in the first of a scheduled doubleheader. The second tilt was rained out. It was Potter's first victory and Vern Stephens celebrated with his initial homer.

Mel Ott continued to get top grade pitching from his New York Giants' staff, this time from Harry Feldman, who spun a five-hit shutout in stopping the Phillies, 2-0. Ott's double produced one run and Ernie Lombardi's third homer of the year just made the left field stands for the other to spell defeat for Charley Schanz.

Cold weather caused postponement of the Brooklyn-Boston and Chicago-Cincinnati games in the National and the Detroit-Chicago tilt in the American. Pittsburgh and St. Louis were not scheduled.

Vets to Help Grid Game--Tuss

PORTLAND, Me., April 27 (AP)—Battle-hardened war veterans returning to campuses will provide the foundation for great football teams, as they did after World War I, "Tuss" McLaughry, Dartmouth grid coach, believes.

Addressing the Maine Dartmouth Alumni Ass'n last night, McLaughry, recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps, said that the "little extra something" men got on the football field helped them when the going got tough in combat.

TODAY'S HONOR ROLL OF CASUALTIES

"Let us be patient! These severe afflictions not from the ground arise, but oftentimes celestial benedictions assume this dark disguise."—(Longfellow)

The War Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 125 casualties in the European and Pacific regions residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.

The list includes 18 DEAD, 74 WOUNDED IN ACTION, 10 MISSING and 23 PRISONERS OF WAR in Germany.
